The Volunteer Voice Celebrates Two Years of Publications

It is with pleasure that we are able to announce, with this issue, the completion of two years and twenty-four issues of our volunteer newsletter, The Volunteer Voice. It would not have been possible without museum staffers Patrick Alexander, Ingrid Lugo, Ashley Magluda, Dayana Ibarra and certainly our Executive Director, John Allen, who have provided most of the detailed information which we pass on to you, our readers. We have also had many contributions from our volunteers such as Celita Lamar, Shelia Shapiro, former volunteer Laura Ondarza, and another former volunteer, Stacey Tipp. (Notice the frequent use of the word “former.”) However, the newsletter would definitely not happen without the key staffer, Jude Alexander, who stays on the trail of critical information until it is finally captured and turned into “news you can use!”

We encourage any staffer, or volunteer to make contributions to your newsletter on any relevant topic which will be helpful and/or informative for the museum volunteers.

Thanks to all of you for your support. The Editorial Staff hopes all will continue to contribute to our on-going effort to keep you informed, entertained and involved.

Gay Bondurant,
Editor

Continuing from Friday, June 7, 2019 through September 4, 2019

The Art of Compassion - Seen in Gallery 109 and the Abraham Gallery
Continuing from Friday, June 7, 2019 through Sunday, September 23, 2019

America Weaves - Seen in the Fewell Gallery
Continuing from June 7, 2019 through November 10, 2019

The Volunteer Voice begins its third year with the next issue, which will be coming out in late September 2019 for October. As you can see by this shortened issue, Summer is upon us. As this is a time for vacations, family visits and general ennui, we will provide information essential to September, however, in a limited format.

You won't miss anything important!

But remember the museum still needs your help even though the pace is a little slower. Contact Jude to cover the ongoing events which are continuously being scheduled.

The Birthday Boutique for July 2019

Happy Birthday, America!

Taken at the Granada Golf Course by Jude Alexander, this stunning photo captured the story of the evening. Previously, at Burger Bob's Diner, seen at the west end of the course, a glorious presentation of food, drink and music began the evening. With preferred seating being unlimited and perfect views of the City of Coral Gables/ Biltmore Hotel Fireworks made available without the crowds and traffic, what could be better?!

Above: Patrick Alexander seems to have been terrified by either a giant, colorful spider or the number of candles on the cake! In any case, Sylvia Cornelius, unfazed, was there, to save Patrick and assist with the taming of the flames (or the spider...!)

Above: Gay Bondurant, appearing only slightly bleary-eyed, enjoys a bit of, appropriate for the occasion, Key Lime pie in celebration of the second anniversary of her 39th birthday!
